

How To Make a Bun

Here are three ways to create the classic chignon with step-by-step instructions. Compare the three methods and you will see how easy Whirl-a-Style is compared to these other methods.

Twisting Method

Supplies Needed: one hair band, lots of pins and a hair net.

1. Pull hair back into a ponytail.
2. Twist hair around in circle to form a bun.
3. While holding hair in place, use many pins to hold bun in place. Some buns require 50 pins!
4. Use a net to secure bun and hold down any fly-a-ways.

The amount of hair pins needed with this method adds to weight to the head often causing headaches. In addition, this is time consuming and an unflattering method. You will think twice before taking hair down and creating another style. In competitions, pins may loosen or fall out, which may disqualify you or your team.

Bun Form or Sock Method

Supplies Needed: one bun form or a sock that has the top cut off, two hair bands and a hair net.

1. Pull hair back into a ponytail.
2. Pull hair through the bun form/sock and place against head.
4. Flip hair all around the bun form/sock covering it completely.
4. Place a hair band at the base of the bun form/sock forming a bun.
5. Wrap the remaining hair around the bun and pin.
6. Use a net to secure the bun and hold down fly-a-ways.

This method requires increased supplies. Although the form does make a fuller looking bun, it is heavy, takes more time to do and may create headaches from all the pulling and tugging on hair.
